General Description of the Furkeville Hydropathic Institute.
The main building is three stories high, standing back from the street about one hundred feet, with a semicircular grass plot in front, and contains thirty to forty rooms.
The grounds around the house are tastefully laid out with walks and planted with trees, shrubs, &c. On the left of the entrance to these grounds is a cottage containing four rooms, used by male patients as a bathing house, with every convenience for "packing," bathing, &c.; on the right of the entrance, about two hundred feet distant, stands a similar cottage, used by the ladies for similar purposes.

purposes.

In the rear of the Institute, at the distance of one hundred feet, are three other cottages, some eighty feet apart. One of these is the laundry, with a hydrant at the door; the other two are occupied by the servants.

The hydrant water is introduced into these cottages as well as into the main building, and all the waste water carried off by drains under ground.

well as into the main building, and all the waste water carried off by drains under ground.

THE WATER WORKS

Consist of a circular stone building, standing on the brow of a hill, surmounted by a large-coder reservoir containing five hundred barrels, brought from a never-failing spring of pure cold water in the side of the hill, by "a hydraulic ram," a self-acting machine of cast iron, that is kept constantly going, night and day, by the descent of the water from the spring. The surplus water is carried from the reservoir to a fountain in the water-works yard, surrounded by weeping willows. In the first story of the waterworks is a circular room, containing the douche bath, which is a stream failing from a height of about thirty feet, and can be varied in size from half an inch to an inch and a half in diameter. Adjoining the douche room is a dressing room; with marble tables, &c; the rising douche (for the cure of piles, &c) is one of the most complete contrivances of the kind, being entirely under the control of the patient using the same.

There are many other appliances, which can be better understood by a personal examination.

To Persons out of Employment. NEW PICTORIAL WORKS,

Just published by R. SEARS, and for sale at No. 128
Nassau street, New York.

A MERICAN GIFT BOOKS FOR 1851.—Agents are wanted to circulate the following new and beautiful A wanted to circulate the following new and beautifu works, (retail price, $2 50 per vol.) A new and complete PICTORIAL HISTORY OF CHINA AND INDIA;

PICTORIAL HISTORY OF CHINA AND INDIA; with a descriptive account of those countries and their inhabitants, from the earliest period of authentic history to the present time. In which the editor has treated not only of the historical events, but also of the manners, customs, religion, literature, and domestic habits of the people of those immense empires.

The embedilishments are about two hundred, and of the first order, illustrating whatever is peculiar to the inhabitants, regarding their dress, domestic occupations, their mode of agriculture, commercial pursuits, arts, &c. They are accurate, and each one has been made expressly for the work.

The volume forms a large octave, containing between five and six hundred pages, printed in the best style, and on good substantial white paper. It is furnished to agents, handsomely bound in muslin, git, or leather, as the purchaser may prefer, at a very liberal discount, when quantities of not less than twenty copies are ordered at one time.

Comprising the most striking and remarkable events of the Revolution, the French war, the Tripolitan war, the Indian war, the second war with Great Britain, and the Mexican war; with three hundred engravings! Retail price, $2.50 per volume. Orders respectfully solicited.

SEARS PICTORIAL FAMILY PUBLICATIONS are decidedly the best books that agents can possibly employ their time in supplying to the people of the United States. They are valuable for reference, and should be possessed by every family in this great republic. There is not a city or town in these United States, not even those of small importance, but contains many citizens to whom these works are indispensable. They are adapted to the literary wants of the Christian, the patriot, the statesman, and the domestic circle, got up in a superior style of ar and workmanship; and are not only such books as will sell, but are such as an agent of good principle will feel free to recommend, and willing to see the purchaser again after they have been bought.

Our Plan.—The plan the publisher has so successfully carried out for several years, is the obtaining responsible men as agents, who are well known in their own counties, owns, and villages, and have time and disposition to circulate good and instructive books among their neighbors and friends. Any person wishing to embark in the enterprise will risk little in sending $25 or $50, for which he will receive an assortment as he may direct, at the wholesale cash prices.

Enterprising and active men of respectability and good address, would do well to engage in the sale of the above ale cash prices.

Enterprising and active men of respectability and good didress, would do well to engage in the sale of the above folumes; and all postmasters, clergymen, book pediars, and newspaper agents, are respectfully requested to act a our agents. A handsome renuneration allowed to all the onesses, in the sale. To publishers of newspapers throughout the United States:

Newspapers copying this advertisement entire, without any alteration or abridgment, (including this notice,) and giving it a few inside insertions, shall receive a copy of any of our $2 50 or $3 works, subject to their order, by sending direct to the publisher.

IRISH EMIGRANT SOCIETY.

Office, No. 1 Reade Street, New York. Office, No. 1 Reads Street, New Fork.

In consequence of the great number of complaints which have for a long time been made by Emigrants, of frauds committed upon them in the sending of money to their friends in Ireland, and to aid and protect the Emigrant, the Irish Emigrant Society established a fund, deposited in the Bank of Ireland, upon which they draw drafts, payable at sight, at any of the branches of the Bank.

Persons residing out of the city, by enclosing in a letter the sum they wish forwarded, with the plainly written direction to whom and where it is to be paid, will have the same remitted.

the sum they wish forwarded, with the plathly written direction to whom and where it is to be paid, will have the same remitted.

There is a great advantage in purchasing the Society's drafts—that the Bank has a branch in each of the principal towns in Ireland, and thus the losses by discount, and otherwise, are avoided.

The Society keeps an office at No. 22 Spruce street, to which Emigrants can apply to obtain situations for which they are fitted.

Orders from employers in the country, stating the services required, the wages, and the cheapest modes of conveyance, and giving a respectable reference, will meet with prompt attention.

The Society will be thankful for all circumstantial and early information of any fraud, imposition, or outrage committed on Emigrants, and will endeaver speedily to apply a remedy.

The Sabbath Bell.

BY CHARLES B. CADY. Sitting at my window, now Comes the music stealing soft, As above you hillock's brow Float the Sabbath-chimes aloft. Often, in my younger year,
When the evening shadows fell,
How I lingered long, to hear
Holy voice of Sabbath Bell.

I have stood in sorrow there
By that grave to me so dear,—
Where no passing eye could stare,
And no passing foot was near;
While upon the gale would rise,
Sweeping gently down the dell,
Music springing to the skies
From that evening Sabbath Bell.

Strange it is, that Music's voice,
Speaking on the Sabbath eve,
Will the sinking soul rejoice
And the laden heart relieve.
Ob, an influence by that tone,
More than mortal tongue can tell,
Is upon the spirit thrown
By the voice of Sabbath Bell!

On our bosom's lonely strand,
When life's billows cease to play,
And, unto the Spirit-Land,
Voices call our hearts away;
And the parting Spirit's smile
Is its truest, purest knell,—
Who will say that ear, the while,
Hears no angel Sabbath Bell!

MURDER OF A YOUNG LADY .- A correspondent of the New Orleans Delta, writing under date of Baton Rouge, October 80, says: "A beautiful and interesting young lady was brutally murdered by some inhuman wretches in the neighborhood of Sandy Creek, in this parish. A negro, named Rilly, and a young negress, about fourteen or fifteen years of age, were taken up, tried, confessed the crime, and sentenced to be hung on Monday, the 27th instant. The negress, in her confession, implicated two white men, as being the instigators of the bloody deed. The report is, that one of the white men accused was enamored of the young lady, who refused to marry him; whereupon he determined to wreak upon her his fiendish revenge, and, by threats and promises, prevailed upon his negroes to waylay her, as she was passing from her home to a neighbor's, near the creek, where her mangled corpse was found submerged beneath the weight of a heavy log, with the apron of the condemned negress about her neck, which had been used to strangle her. They were tried by a justice and a jury of freeholders, as by haw required, on Friday, and sentenced to be hung. The white men accused have left the parish, although they cannot be condemned on negro evidence.'

Contrasting the prices of living in the two capitals, London and Washington, he says:

"If the mode of serving up, and the variety of wholesome dishes are taken into consideration, then, the living in the metropolis of the United States is far cheaper than it is in any town of magnitude, or even village, in England. I spent the latter part of the summer of 1849 in Washington, which I found rather dull, but the living was quite as good as any Englishman need desire, and at prices that surprised me. For instance, I had quite a large airy room, very comfortably furnished and kept in order, for eight dollars per month, less than two pounds sterling. I took my meals at Copp's Pavillion, a very large and spacious building, located in the most central part of the city, for which I was charged fifteen and ninepence a week, about three dollars and a half of their money. It is true that there were neither gold nor silver plate, nor costly china, but otherwise the table was as well furnished as any hotel in London.

"Every day we had a delicious soup, (not un-frequently calf's head and green turtle,) with a fish called by the natives sheepshead, quite equal to our turbot, with roast beef, mutton, and veal, as good as any I have eaten at home, (not excepting the famed southdown mutton;) and, in addition, there were various dishes of and, in addition, there were various dishes of dessert, fruits, &c., and everything scrupulously clean and neat, a matter not always met with where they have black slaves, requiring the constant eye of the master or mistress. I know I could not have as good a table in London for five pounds a week. The only drawback is, that you are compelled to sit with thirty or forty persons, who, though usually gentlemanly in their demeanor, and very atten-tive, yet despatch their luxurious dinners with a rapidity quite unworthy of rational beings who eat for enjoyment. The Yankee is a social fellow in his own way, and would no more think of dining alone, if he could get into a crowd, than he would lose an opportunity of making a dollar where one offered. I believe that it is this promisence mixing tegether. that it is this promiscuous mixing together that renders them so polite to each other, and so uniformly courteous to strangers. Washington, though young, boasts of many beautiful buildings, numerous churches, and as fine hotels as any in the world."

AN AMERICAN DEMONSTRATION IN LONDON .-The Americans the present industrial year have distinguished themselves in a variety of ways in the eyes of the mother country; and in honor of the American gentlemen who were connected with the exhibition in the Crystal Palace, Mr. George Peabody, the princely banker of Lon-don, gave, on the 27th of October, a parting dinner by way of patriotic celebration. Speeches were made by Mr. Abbott Lawrence, the Amer-ican Minister, Sir Henry Bulwer, Earl Gran-ville, Sir Charles Fox, Sir Joseph Paxton, the designer of the great edifice, Mr. Riddell, the American Commissioner, and Robert J. Walker, the ex-Secretary of the Treasury.

Sir. Henry Bulwer, as usual, was excessively happy in his efforts, as also was the Earl Granville, who has made himself highly popular of late by his kind and pointed acts of hospitality. towards the Americans abroad. Among the guests were Sir Edward Lytton Bulwer, Mr. Hackey, the president of the Bank of England, Baron de Speth, Mr. Corbin of Virginia, William Stansbury, the commissioner appointed by the President of the United States, General Walmore training to elevate them above loaferism zine," Martin Farquhar Tupper, Hobbs, the celebrated picklock, and some hundred and sixty others, mostly American gentlemen, di-rectly interested in the business of the late exstrides; and in order to keep up with other im- hibition. MINISTERS DEPOSED .- We learn from the Churchman, that at St. Paul's Church, New York, on Tuesday last, the Right Rev. Bishop De Lancey pronounced the sentence of suspension for one year, from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of the Rev. John Canfield Sterling, unless he should in the meantime engage to conform to the doctrine, discipline, and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Bishop also pronounced sentence of depo-sition from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church upon the Rev. Wm. Everett, who as connected himself with the Church of Rome.
